

AMERICANS AGAIN WARNED TO GET OUT OF SPAIN

BITTER FIGHT NOW RENEWED NEAR MADRID

Rebels Shift Line of Attack on Capital from North to South

ALL EUROPE IS TENSE

Reports from War Zone Tell of Imprisonment of Many Foreigners

Washington, Aug. 11.—(P)—A new appeal to Americans to leave the danger zone of the Spanish revolution was dispatched today by William Phillips, acting Secretary of State.

In a message to the American Embassy at Madrid, which State Department officials said applied also to all other strife-torn cities in Spain where Americans are located, Phillips said:

"I can not urge too strongly that all American citizens who can possibly do so take advantage of present facilities to go to places of safety."

Elaborating on the message at his press conference, Phillips said it was sent because of reports indicating an increasingly serious situation at Madrid and the possibility that present facilities for reaching Valencia by train from the capital must be disrupted.

More than 100 American citizens have refused thus far to leave Madrid because of business or family reasons.

The State Department was advised that the American motor yacht Maru, owned by Edwin H. Bertuch, had not been reported since it left Palma, in the Balearic Islands, with its owner and crew of one on August 7. It had a five-hour fuel supply.

The French navy was said to have promised assistance in searching for the missing craft.

Spanish Loyalists laid down a deafening barrage of shells and bullets in the south today with a single objective which seemed at least partly achieved—stoppage of the rebel drive on the capital city of Madrid.

Apparently repulsed for the time being in the Gaadrama mountains, the doorway to Madrid on the north, the insurgents in turn concentrated a savage attack against Loyalist-held communities on the Peninsula's northern seaboard.

The deep-throated explosion of shells along the entire front abutting San Sebastian, the Bay of Biscay seaside resort, and Irun, ostensibly betokened the opening of the rebel attack in the far north which was intended to consolidate rebel control from the Guadarrama to the ocean.

Aiding the government in the south were Loyalist warships which have kept up a running fire against the troop transports of Gen. Franco.

Bullets--Not Ballots--Run Europe's Politics

Popular Front government volunteers charge rebel stronghold. A Hearst Metrophone News cameraman risked his life to take you right into the firing line as volunteer supporters of the Popular Front government charged on a Fascist rebel position near Somosierra, Spain. This attack was one of the drives, made by the government troops in an attempt to break the rebel circle closing around Madrid, the capital. The rebels have been held off.

RACE RIOT IS THREATENED AS POSSE HUNTS KIDNAPPER

Anniston, Ala., Aug. 11.—(P)—A white baby from its crib, Shotgun fire met a small body of searchers at a negro settlement about five miles from here when it approached a dwelling last night.

A posse of some 200 men continued the hunt today for the man whose asserted abduction attempt was said to have been frustrated by the mother of the child.

He was said to have dropped the infant when she struck him with a hammer.

The search was broadened to include the shotgun wielders.

Mayor W. S. Coleman described the clash as a "near race riot." He said he would not ask for state militia aid, however, unless state law enforcement officers deemed it necessary.

J. A. Hicks, one of the men shot, said a volley of shotgun fire met him and a few companions when they approached a house after becoming separated from the main body of 100 or so possemen.

"Hell broke loose from all sides," Hicks said.

Police said Mrs. U. L. Williams of Lloyd's Chapel, a rural community about seven miles from here, reported the kidnapping attempt.

BROTHERS OF SLAIN WOMAN KILL HUSBAND BEFORE TRIAL

Dallas, Ga., Aug. 11.—(P)—Sheriff Frank Couch said Harry Howe, accused of the shotgun killing of his wife April 26, was slain by two of her brothers today on the way from jail to the court house.

The brothers, Worth and Pinson, were arrested.

"Just as we reached the court house lawn," the sheriff said, "They stepped out from behind a bush and began firing with pistols. They didn't say anything. Howe started to run."

Couch said the prisoner fell before four shots.

Howe was to have gone to trial today on a murder charge for the killing of his wife. Her body, partly clothed, was found in the woods April 27 beside a motor truck which officers said was registered in the name of her husband.

A son of Howe testified before a coroner's jury that his father told him:

"I killed Hattie. Get in touch with my lawyer. You'll hear from me in 15 to 30 days."

Howe was arrested in Chicago a month ago.

The two brothers offered no resistance to arrest.

Slain Man's Girl Sought

Cleveland, Aug. 11.—(P)—Police sought today a 24-year-old girl acquaintance of Mike Bozak, 35, whose body with five bullet wounds was found Friday in suburban Moreland Hills village.

The body remained unidentified for several days. Police said their records showed Bozak had served two reformatory sentences and had been returned twice as a parole violator.

FOREST FIRE CRISIS PASSED IS HOPE--RAIN FORECAST TOO

Astor-Thorpe Scandals May Be Soft Peddled By Judge, Indication Now

Los Angeles, Aug. 11.—(P)—Judge Goodwin Knight sharply criticized opposing attorneys in the sensational Mary Astor-Lr. Franklyn Thorpe marital dispute today and ordered an adjournment until 5 p. m. (EST) to expedite the court hearing.

Declaring that "much irrelevant matter" had been presented for his consideration, Judge Knight ordered the attorneys to go back to their offices and prepare a case "limited to the issues now before the court."

Just before the judge spoke one of Dr. Thorpe's attorneys told newspapermen that "about a dozen" affidavits sought by the physician's side in Florida had been received.

Judge Knight expressed the hope the hearing could be concluded in a day and a half, or "at most in three days."

Miss Astor is still subject to cross examination by Joseph Anderson, attorney for Dr. Thorpe.

Island Rich Woolley, her attorney, told the court that after she is finished, he would call "only two or three witnesses" whose testimony would be brief.

Anderson previously declared that when Woolley has finished presentation of his side of the case he would call back Miss Astor to the stand as a witness for Dr. Thorpe.

Anderson said that in this way he would attempt to introduce in evidence Miss Astor's diary in which, Dr. Thorpe has charged, she wrote down accounts of romances with various men.

Dr. Thorpe contended the actress was guilty of "gross immoral conduct" and was not fitted to have custody of their four-year-old daughter.

The purple-penned diary to which gay Mary Astor entrusted the secrets of her film colony life focused attention today on her celebrity-studded child custody suit.

A way to unlock the legal door to its contents was sought at a trial which already has introduced in evidence such prominent names as John Barrymore, the actor, George S. Kaufman, the playwright, and Bennett Cerf, former husband of actress Sylvia Sydney.

SEVEN STATES SUFFER HEAVY LOSS TO FIRE

Shifting Wind and Rain Help in Wisconsin and Minnesota

IT'S HOT DOWN SOUTH

Much of Middlewest Is Still in Drought's Grip

An army of men fighting forest fires in seven states reported progress against the flames today.

The damage was most extensive in the north woods of Minnesota and Wisconsin, but forestry officials regarded the crisis as past and hoped for fulfillment of a "possible showers" weather forecast.

Authorities in Minnesota and Wisconsin estimated a total of 23,000 men—CCC boys federal and state workers and a horde of volunteers—were on the front in those states, and hundreds of others struggled with uncounted fires in Michigan, Idaho, Washington, Wyoming and California.

A score of forest fires, six of them major, were reported in southwestern Alberta, Canada. The ranch owned by King Edward VIII of England, near Calgary, was out of immediate danger with flames still nine miles away.

The third death blamed directly on forest fires occurred yesterday near Harrington, Wash., when Bert Aink, 53, was crushed by a large tree while fighting a small blaze. In Sparta, Wis., 16-year-old Lester Brundum was answering a call for firemen when he fell dead with a heart attack.

Twelve persons were injured in a head-on automobile collision last night on a smoky road near Bennett, Wis.

After an airplane inspection tour, A. N. Cockrell, assistant forest supervisor at Sandpoint, Idaho, reported fires burning over a 30-mile area in the region of the Idaho-Canadian boundary.

The fire near Moskee, Wyo., fought by 2,000 men, was believed

Seattle, Aug. 11.—(P)—Military pomp and ceremony figured today in funeral arrangements for Washington's playboy congressman, Rep. Marion A. Zionscheck, who plunged to death Friday from a fifth floor window.

A 17-gun salute at Fort Lawton and an army bugler's "taps" at the graveside were included in the afternoon funeral services.

The flag-draped casket was guarded by two marines.

The Rev. Fred W. Shorter, who presided at Zionscheck's only public address since the congressman returned with his bride from Washington, D. C., this summer, was to deliver the funeral sermon.

Davey Goes To Ft. Knox By Plane To Make Speech

Columbus, O.—(P)—Gov. Martin L. Davey changed his plans Tuesday and decided to fly to Fort Knox Ky., Thursday, to review national guard troops. He originally planned to go Wednesday. From Fort Knox he will fly to Archbold, Fulton county, Ohio, in the afternoon for a speaking engagement.

MECHANICAL HEART SHOWN SCIENTISTS

LINDBERGH IN SPOTLIGHT OF COPENHAGEN MEET

Copenhagen, Aug. 11.—(P)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh demonstrated today his mechanical heart to a large audience of fellow scientists.

America's noted flier, who turned to the laboratory in cooperation with Dr. Alexis Carrel to invent an artificial heart, appeared on a platform before the international congress of experimental cytology to explain the apparatus.

The 300 delegates to the Congress opened their sessions yesterday in the Common Hall of the Danish Parliament in Christiansborg Castle.

A flurry of excitement was caused by the entrance of photographers and the American flier's reluctance to be photographed.

Publicity surrounding the Congress drew objections from some Danish medical circles. Several provincial physicians asserted many of their patients had gained the belief the mechanical heart could be substituted for a real organ in the human body.

"SEX ANGLE IS OUT"

SO SAYS PROSECUTOR OF CO. ED MURDER CASE.

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 11.—(P)—Authorities differed today over the motive in the Helen Clevenger murder case while preparations went forward for the trial of Martin Moore, Negro hall boy, charged with killing the 18-year-old college girl.

Sheriff Laurence E. Brown said he was convinced the gangling, six-foot-three prisoner went to the girl's room in the fashionable Battery Park hotel to ravish her and killed her when she screamed.

The sheriff added, however, he did not believe an assault was actually attempted. Physicians, early in the case, did not agree on this phase.

Disputing the sheriff's theory, Solicitor Zeb V. Nettles, who will prosecute the case, said "the sex angle is out altogether."

He asserted he believed Moore entered the room solely to loot it and shot the girl in a moment of panic when he was frightened by her outcry.

That was the story the Negro related in a confession Sheriff Brown and other officers announced that he made after his arrest.

2 RUSSIAN FLIERS STALLED IN ALASKA

ENROUTE TO MOSCOW, THEY ARE BALKED BY WEATHER.

Juneau, Alaska, Aug. 11.—(P)—Sigmund Levanesky and Victor Levchenko, Russian aviators essaying a Los Angeles-to-Moscow flight across "the top of the world," scanned the sky today for a clear way to Fairbanks, in interior Alaska, their next scheduled stop.

Weather permitting, Levanesky said they would hop to Fairbanks today and proceed to Nome and across the Behring sea to Siberia.

The airmen arrived here last night from Ketchikan, making the 225-mile trip in one hour and 45 minutes. Poor visibility and a light rain held them at Ketchikan four hours yesterday after a flight from Swanson Bay, B. C., where they hopped Sunday from Bella Bella, B. C.

ESKIMOS STARVING

MISSIONARY BRINGS STORY OF TRAGEDY TO BARROW

Barrow, Alaska, Aug. 11.—(P)—Dr. Henry W. Greist, Presbyterian medical missionary, said today 500 Eskimos on the Arctic rim were on the verge of starvation. One native died of hunger.

Dr. Greist said the natives were eating shoes, boots, coverings from boats and animals that had been dead a "considerable length of time."

Joe Arney, Dr. Greist said, died soon after bringing his emaciated wife and children on a hungry trek from the interior to the coast.

"Many others are now exhausted from hunger and would have been dead long ago but for eating their sled dogs," Dr. Greist said.

Secretary Ickes' Son Held In Massachusetts

Woburn, Mass.—(P)—District court clerk Charles H. Loring said Tuesday he had issued a complaint charging Robert H. Ickes, described by patrolman John Dolan as the son of the Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, with operating a car while under the influence of liquor.

RELIEF PROGRAM EXPANDED AS SURVEY SHOWS DROUGHT DAMAGE EXTENT

CROP FORECAST SPURS EFFORTS

Smallest Corn Yield in 55 Years Indicated—Other Grain Suffers

Washington, Aug. 11.—(P)—A government estimate that the 1936 corn crop will be the smallest in 55 years served as a guide today to federal relief moves in the drought area.

The yield of 1,439,135,000 bushels, estimated by the crop reporting board late yesterday, is the lowest since 1881 when the population of the nation was only 50,155,000 as compared with more than 127,000,000 at present.

Secretary Wallace and other administration officials who had anxiously awaited the forecast immediately proceeded anew with relief plans.

Drought relief officials added 30 more counties in seven states to the emergency list which now includes 920 counties in 22 states. Relief efforts are concentrated in these counties.

There was some speculation as to whether President Roosevelt might use his powers under the tariff act to reduce the 25 cent per bushel tariff on corn imports or eliminate it on specific purchases for drought needs.

Another move included the forthcoming tour of nine states by the great plains drought committee.

The corn crop forecast, based on August 1 conditions, was more than 800,000,000 bushels under the estimate of one month earlier and more than a billion bushels less than average production between 1928 and 1932.

A smaller decline in the production of all wheat was also forecast in the broad report. Production this year was placed at 632,745,000 bushels compared to the July 1 estimate of 638,399,000 and the five year average of 863,564,000.

Coupled with the corn shrinkage were declines in forecasted yields of oats, barley and grain sorghum and other feed grains, so the total for the four classifications rated 42 per cent below the 10 year average feed production from 1923 to 1932.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS INSTITUTE MEETING

Lakeside, O., (P)—Seven hundred and fifty-three central Ohio division Epworth Leaguers were here Monday for their second annual summer institute. A registration of 262 gave top attendance to the Canton district. The Mansfield district, with 254, and the Norwalk district, with 181, followed.

CHECKER TOURNNEY

Sandusky, O., (P)—The Cedar Point Checker Association's annual tournament is under way with Nathan Rubin of Detroit defending his title. B. J. McGory of Sandusky Monday was elected president; Rev. G. A. Lawrence of Oberlin, secretary, and W. D. Dollings of Cleveland, treasurer.

Politics at Random

Washington, Aug. 11.—(P)—Presidential politics went into temporary eclipse today as state primaries—in which two prominent senators sought renomination—attracted attention.

Townsendism was an issue in Arkansas as citizens there voted their choice from United States senator down to constable. Joseph T. Robinson, Democratic leader of the Senate, seeking a fifth term, was opposed by Cleveland Holland, Fort Smith attorney who bears the endorsement of the State Townsend plan convention, and J. Rosser Venable, Little Rock attorney who criticized Robinson's legislative record.

The $200 a month old age pension plan also featured the primary campaign in Idaho, where Senator William Borah fought for the Republican nomination toward a sixth consecutive term. His opponent was Byron Defenbach, former state treasurer who is supported by Townsdenites.

C. Ben Ross, former cowboy and three times Idaho's governor, contested for the Democratic senatorial nomination with U. S. Attorney John Carver.

Florida had a special primary today to settle a contest between Doyle E. Carlton and former Judge C. O. Andrews for the Democratic nomination to succeed the late Senator Park Trammell.

While President Roosevelt and Governor Landon prepared for coming speeches, their supporters were active in the field.

After a Washington meeting in which they pledged themselves yesterday to strive for re-election of Mr. Roosevelt as a basis for "establishment of a liberal party" in 1940, state leaders of the pro-New Deal Labor's Non-Partisan League scattered to their homes today to intensify campaign work.

Continuing a campaign swing into the Northwest, Republican Chairman John D. M. Hamilton said WPA has called for bids for the preparation of films showing relief projects, declaring the pictures are to be distributed "in the guise of news reels." He said the "party in power is forcing the taxpayers, without their consent" to contribute "to a political campaign fund for distribution of propaganda."

While Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice-presidential candidate, worked at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., on coming speeches in his strenuous campaign tour, Secretary Wallace disputed statements he attributed to Knox.

Wallace said at Chicago that Knox and Chairman Hamilton had charged the New Deal with creating a wheat shortage. Accusing them of "knocking down," Wallace said the estimated 1936 wheat harvest is about equal to normal consumption, while the July 1 carryover was 150,000,000 bushels.

President Roosevelt plans to make a speech on foreign relations at Chautauqua, N. Y., Friday night during a tour of flood-damaged sections of Pennsylvania and New York. Governor Landon, who planned to journey from Topeka today for a brief vacation in Colorado, will speak at Chautauqua later in the month.

Cleveland, Aug. 11.—(P)—Father Charles E. Coughlin will come here tomorrow, instead of Thursday, to shape plans for the National Union For Social Justice convention, an official of the movement, who declined use of his name, said today.

The change of plans came shortly after announcement that President Roosevelt would appear here for a four-hour visit Friday, the opening day of the convention.

Father Coughlin will speak twice at the three-day convocation of his National Union. He is first listed Friday morning for a response to addresses of welcome by Mayor Harold H. Burton and Lincoln G. Dickey, general manager of the Great Lakes exposition.

Mr. Roosevelt will be asked to address informally a luncheon Friday noon, officials of the exposition said today. A tentative program for the President's brief stay calls for inspection of the Lake Front boulevard, Horticultural Garden and Cleveland Airport, WPA projects and a drive around the exposition grounds.

The presidential train is expected about 10 a. m. Friday on Mr. Roosevelt's inspection of New York and Pennsylvania flood areas. Attendance at the luncheon will be by invitation only, said officials of the exposition, who expected to submit the program tomorrow to Col. E. W. Starling, chief of the White House secret service staff.

Father Coughlin's second appearance before his organization's convention will be Sunday at a mass meeting in the huge Cleveland stadium. The radio priest will be preceded on the platform by William Lemke and Thomas C. O'Brien, Union party candidates for president and vice president, respectively.

Father Coughlin personally has endorsed their candidacy and has assailed Mr. Roosevelt in recent addresses, including one before the Townsend National convention last month, where Dr. F. E. Townsend and Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith of Louisiana, aligned with him to tour the United States on behalf of Lemke.

Mr. Smith is self-avowed heir to the late Huey P. Long's "Share-the-Wealth" club following. Dr. Townsend, co-founder of the old age pension movement bearing his name, is scheduled here Monday for continuance of a deposition hearing. National Union leaders expected him earlier for the convention.

Columbus, O., Aug. 11.—(P)—The fate of the new Union's party drive for full recognition on the November ballots in Ohio awaited advices from county boards of elections today on the validity of signatures to its petitions.

When the county boards complete their check, Secretary of State George S. Myers said, a ruling will be given on whether the party can supplement the original signatures to make up a deficiency or 46,000 shown in a preliminary count.

Party leaders contended they had ten days of grace after August 5 to file supplemental petitions, but Myers held informally the period could be used only for replacing original signatures declared invalid. The preliminary count showed 282,000 signatures, against the 328,000.

New York, Aug. 11.—(P)—The omission of former Governor Alfred E. Smith's name from the list of Tammany Hall delegates to the New York State Democratic convention in September accompanied predictions by his associates today that he would not attend.

John T. Dooling, head of Tammany's Law committee, announced last night that Smith's name was not included among the delegates. He declined to comment, as did his brother, James J. Dooling, Tammany Hall leader.

Associates of the former governor said they could not say whether his plans to stay away from the convention meant a break in his political friendship with Gov. Herbert H. Lehman.

Lehman has supported President Roosevelt, whereas Smith urged the party's national convention last June to repudiate him.

Columbus, O., Aug. 11.—(P)—Francis W. Poulson, Democratic state chairman, said today that President Roosevelt's visit to Cleveland Friday would not alter plans to hold the Democratic state convention there sometime between Sept. 1 and 15.

Poulson said he expected the resident to return to Cleveland early in September.

He previously had said the convention would be held the day before the President's September visit.

Shorts To Save Money For Army Of Filipinos

Manila, P. I. (P)—Economy is the matchword of the new Philippine national army being set up by General Douglas MacArthur, former chief of staff of the American army.

The general, because of the small military budget the new Commonwealth government can afford for army purposes, has had to cut the corners wherever possible.

Local products enable him to save quite a sum. For instance, the imported campaign hat formerly worn by Philippine soldiers, cost $4.50 each. But the new campaign hat, much like the old only made out of coconut fibers, costs 90 centavos (45 cents American).

When it comes time to rig out the new soldiers beginning next Jan. 1, the general does not plan to put them into complete uniforms. Instead of the regulation long trousers the general will employ khaki shorts—another great savings when one considers that some 40,000 soldiers are to be trained in 1937 and 400,000 during the ten year transition period.

OHIO CORN CROP CUT ONE THIRD

Report of Farm Survey Shows Drought Played No Favorites Here

Washington, Aug. 11.—(P)—The drought-ravaged Ohio corn crop, says the federal crop reporting board, will total this year less than two thirds of the 1935 harvest.

Varying declines were reported by the agriculture department for the state's apple, sugar beet and grape crops.

The board estimated yesterday that the 1935 cornfield total would be but 102,312,000 bushels, 57 per cent of normal, based on conditions as of Aug. 1. As of July 1, it had predicted an Ohio corn yield of 118,755,000 bushels.

The national corn crop of 1,439,135,000 bushels was the smallest indicated harvest in a half century.

Ohio's "drought triangle"—an area near Dayton in the southwest section, bore the brunt of last month's record temperatures.

The federal crop reporting office at Columbus, O., today recalled that Ohio cornfields in 1925 yielded 174,229,000 bushels, the top figure since 1886.

The crop reporting board reported its preliminary estimate of Ohio winter wheat production as 41,292,000 bushels, compared to 46,892,000 bushels produced last year.

Ohio's oats crop was reported at but 64 per cent of normal, the indicated production being 39,965,000 bushels compared with 33,217,000 bushels forecast a month before.

Sugar beet production in the Buckeye state will total but 264,000 tons, compared with a 1935 figure of 349,000 tons, the agriculture department said. Nationally, an increase was indicated.

Ohio's crop of 7,952,000 bushels of apples last year was three times 1935's expected yield of but 2,660,000 bushels, compared with a five-year average of 6,538,000 bushels.

The agriculture department commented that hot, dry weather retarded sizing of apples in mid-west areas, but that the crop is "clean and of good quality." The department said Aug. 1 reports indicated the national apple crop would be the smallest since 1921.

The indicated 1936 grape production in the state is but 21,300 tons, the department said, compared with 29,110 tons last year and a five-year average of 25,735 tons.

Co-ed's Slayer?

Marvin Church

Nearly four weeks of intensive search for the slayer of Helen Clevenger, New York university co-ed found shot to death in an Asheville, N. C., hotel room, came to an end when Martin Moore, above, Negro hotel employee, allegedly confessed he shot and killed the girl in a moment of panic when he went to her room to rifle it. Moore, 22, will be tried at a term of court in Asheville beginning Aug. 17. During the investigation eight persons were held and questioned, only to be released.

LOCAL BOY STEALS ANOTHER AUTOMOBILE

AND DRIVES IT HOME FROM RICHMOND INDIANA 6

Marvin Church, out on parole from the Boy's Industrial School, and who has a pretty bad record for a fourteen-year-old, is back in the toils once more, this time for stealing an automobile from Richmond, Indiana, and driving it to this city. "I wanted to get home" was the only excuse he gave for the theft.

It was stated at police headquarters that a few weeks ago the boy stole Rev. J. A. Goddard's automobile and it was recovered two or three days later.

It is expected that the boy, who was picked up by the police, will be returned to Lancaster, unless the Indiana authorities insist upon prosecuting him.

It was learned Tuesday afternoon that Church had stolen John Bondurant's car in this city Saturday night and wrecked it near Richmond, Indiana, and had stolen the Indiana car to come back home. The boy has a wound on one hand where he was injured when the car took the ditch.

SUSPECTS ROUNDED UP BY THE POLICE

Two boys giving the names of Dillard Jeviden and John Edwards, of Wellston, and one Thomas Evergreen, from Montana, were picked up by the police, late Monday night, while they were loitering about the streets.

The two Wellston boys convinced the police that they were not up to mischief, and were released.

Evergreen was held for further questioning, with indications of release later.

REMINGTON-RAND PLANT ATTEMPTS TO REOPEN AGAIN UNDER POLICE GUARD

More Trouble Threatens Despite Legal Restrictions Placed Against Strikers and Norwood, Cincinnati Suburb, Officially, Are "Ready for Anything"

Cincinnati, Aug. 11—(AP)—Remington-Rand Inc., reopened its suburban Norwood plant today after an 11 weeks strike that was marked by numerous outbreaks of violence.

Approximately 200 workers, protected by a hundred policemen and a score of deputy sheriffs, walked into the plant shortly after 8 A. M. Hundreds of strikers, sympathizers and curious persons congregated near the plant. A. R. Rumbles, vice-president of the company, charged a restricted zone which Mayor Allen C. Roubush set aside by proclamation "was not maintained" causing a delay of 30 minutes or more in bringing the workers into the plant.

"Instead of 120 pickets in the restricted zone, there were several times that number, enough to intimidate some workers who might have wished to walk in," Rumbles said.

A court injunction limited to 120 the number of pickets the strikers might station at the plant. The company sought five weeks ago to reopen under protection of that court order but after three days shut down again because of violence that caused injury to two score persons. Four strikers have been convicted of contempt of court as a result and given jail sentences and heavy fines.

Reports of threatened trouble caused Mayor Roubush and Sheriff George A. Lutz to instruct their men to "be ready for anything," and to prepare for continuous duty, should that be necessary.

The police force was increased from a total of 33 to 100 by Mayor Roubush in an effort to meet demands by Rumbles that "adequate protection" be afforded workers, 1,700 of whom have been affected.

The strike has hinged on the question of union recognition. Judge Mack yesterday sentenced Miss Lillie Prewitt, a striker, to five days in jail and to pay a $150 fine for contempt of court. She was the fourth striker to receive both a jail sentence and a fine as an outgrowth of violations of an injunction issued several weeks ago.

Miss Prewitt was released on bond.

RECOMMEND OSCAR WIKLE FOR POST

The County Commissioners have recommended Oscar Wickle, for many years trustee of Union township and former Safety Director for certifying agent for all Works Projects Administration work in the county.

It is the Certifying agent's job to determine who is eligible to work on the various projects, and this is done through investigation and a careful check of the applicants.

It is also stated in this connection that in future present needs will be considered as a basis for employment, instead of the requirement that a worker must have been on relief rolls.

ALIBI IS SUSTAINED REFUSE EXTRADITION

Columbus, O., (AP)—Testimony of nine alibi witnesses that Dominick Coco and Argent Cassanni both were in Bridgeport, their home, on the night of the home of William Lias in Wheeling, W. Va., looted of $25,000 in cash and jewelry won for them Tuesday the refusal of Gov. Martin L. Davey to honor their extradition to Wheeling to face robbery charges.

WILLIS TALKS TO ROTARIANS

Interesting Address on Disposal Plant

Members of the Washington C. H. Rotary Club listened to a very interesting address giving an adequate idea of the workings of the Sewage Disposal Plant in this city, delivered by Robert E. Willis, engineer in charge of the plant.

"Sewage and Sewage Treatment" was the theme of his address, and he described in detail the operation of the plant from the time the sewage enters the intercepting sewer until it leaves the disposal plant thoroughly dried and practically odorless in the drying beds. During his address he gave facts and figures regarding the plant that were enlightening to most of the Rotarians. He spoke of the amount of sewage handled each day, the various processes through which it passes in the treating plant, and the approximate cost of handling the sewage.

To-date, he said, 54 tons of dry sludge had been taken from the sludge drying beds, and quite a number of persons have been experimenting with the dry sludge as a fertilizer, and it is expected that a market for the entire output will be built up in the near future.

Raymond Howard, proprietor of the Madison Press and Madison County Democrat, was a visitor at the session.

MILK DELIVERY AVERTS HOLDUP

Bainbridge, Aug. 1—(Special)—Mayor George Fisher, by the prompt delivery of a quart bottle of milk he was carrying, prevented himself from being the victim of a hold-up at the midnight hour as he was about to enter his home, and was accosted by a thug who commanded him to put up his hands.

Instead of raising his hands Fisher hurled the quart bottle of milk at the hold up man, and it struck the fellow full in the chest, causing him to turn and run.

Efforts to trail the man with a bloodhound failed.

Quiz Farm Slayer

As police removed Harry Singer, confessed slayer of three members of a Wabash county farm family, from Wabash, Ind., where he was held, to Indianapolis, because of public feeling, authorities sought to link him with a fatal shooting of a Detroit man in a roadside holdup, Singer, a paroled convict, confessed, according to police, he killed John Fielding Wesley, 56; Wesley's wife and their 12-year-old daughter in their home and then buried their bodies. In the roadside holdup, near Wabash last month, J. D. Bryant, of Detroit, was shot, dying later in a hospital.

WORLD at a Glance

Campaign Half-Truths, with Their Emotional Effect on People, Begin to Anger Voters

By LESLIE EICHEL

People are asking this column what can be done to the many half-truths being uttered during this present campaign.

"Those half-truths may cause the people to become emotionally unsound and follow paths to their destruction," one person says. That may be true.

A FEW REMARKS

We have been running through a few of the remarks of spellbinders, and others who can influence public opinion.

The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin remarks:

"After Roosevelt what? It will not be the National Union for Social Justice. We have never been a political party. But we are going to be the whip, the courage. We are going to be the very dynamite that blows these politicians and 'banker-parties' out of the American life."

That bears a striking resemblance to what Mussolini and Hitler said when they were fighting for power.

Besides, after Roosevelt there would be Landon, not Lemke. But the radio priest says also:

"If Herbert Hoover had been elected president and if Gov. Alf M. Landon should take up with Hoover left off, there would be nothing left for America but bloody revolution."

At the same time, Thomas C. O'Brien, of Boston, vice presidential candidate on the Union party, proclaims that the wealth of the United States is concentrated in the hands of 140,000 individuals who handpick the candidates of the two major parties for 40,000,000 voters.

President Roosevelt may be interested to learn that the "140,000 individuals" who have all the wealth are supporting him, as well as Gov. Alf Landon. After looking at their barrage of attacks on him, the president has been of a different opinion.

Incidentally, several readers ask, what program except a form of monetary inflation, do the Union party-Coughlinites offer? That group brands many of the social reforms as "communistic" and is vague on matters of labor, child welfare, war, etc., thus its aim seems to be power for an individual or two. That may be the road to dictatorship. That was the course in Italy and in Germany.

QUESTIONS

Then, again, the manner in which questions in polls of public opinion are asked is criticized by some readers.

"Are we heading for a dictatorship?" is a question that has been put, with the implied assumption that it is President Roosevelt who is feared.

But many people, when they answer that with, yes, they do fear a dictatorship, mean that forces antagonistic to the people may thwart President Roosevelt and his administration.

Such is the view of many persons who have contacted this writer.

UNBELIEVING

Then there is the publicity man for a steel company who put his woes before this writer. The steel companies have been receiving unfavorable publicity.

"We give our men the right to organize through their own choice," he said. "They don't want outside organizers coming in. That's the truth."

But is it? Innumerable quotations of workers cross my desk. They not merely want the "outside" organizers, but are organizing as fast as they can.

And workers say this is no easy task—for in many plants there are spies and, worse, many steel communities are entirely controlled by the companies. Workers mention the names of those towns, and stories they tell would cause one to believe a dictatorship already had arrived. Men even have been sentenced for having union literature!

SETTLED?

Then, when the Democrats say that prosperity has returned and all problems have been settled, many anxious voices among the still unemployed ask in alarm whether grownup men can be so foolish.

But these anxious folk find no answer from the Republicans either, they say. In fact, the Republican speeches, they assert, have sounded antediluvian.

All of which gives a wide opening for the demagogues.

MAKE APPLICATION FOR SEWER PROJECT

SUBMIT $12,000 PROJECT IN THIS CITY

Application has been made for a sewer project in Washington Avenue with laterals in Carolyn Road and Park Avenue, which would require about 3500 feet of sewer pipe and cost in excess of $12,000, with the government paying $10,801 and the city, $1690.

The project, plans for which were worked out by the city engineer and City Manager Sollars, would add materially to the sewer facilities in that part of the city.

The application was forwarded to the District office Tuesday.

EARL LEIST'S SONS ESCAPE IN WRECK

Trebar's son, Warren, 16, also escaped without injury.

Mrs. Trebar and others were in a car ahead of the car Trebar was driving, and Trebar was endeavoring to drive in his bare feet. Funeral services were held at the residence Tuesday afternoon and burial made at Bainbridge.

JEFFERSONVILLE MAN IS IMPROVING, HOWEVER

The condition of Phillip Tatman, this city, who shot himself with a 22 calibre rifle in front of the Orville Scott home on the Danville road, early Sunday morning, after Scott's daughter had refused to see him, is still serious at University Hospital, Columbus, where he was removed.

Rome (AP)—That ingenious invention designed to reduce Italian gasoline consumption—the "gasogene" autobus—is less popular today because its operation adds to the discomfort of Rome's summer heat.

FORECASTS FOR RAIN CHEER FIRE FIGHTERS

Chicago, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Showers and shifting winds which may check the advance of Wisconsin and Minnesota forest fires tonight and tomorrow were predicted today by Forecaster A. W. Cook.

He said that while the rains might not be heavy enough in some portions to extinguish the flames, the change in the winds from south to northwest should aid in the fight against the stubborn conflagrations which have brought out armies of volunteers.

Late crops and pastures should benefit from rains, Cook said, which were expected to fall in Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

In other north central states, he said, it would probably be cloudy, while temperatures will be lower in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin. He said no relief was expected from the new wave of blazing heat in Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Illinois and Indiana were expected to see little change in temperatures.

Corn futures fluctuated wildly on the Chicago board of trade, reflecting the surprise with the government's official crop estimate was started from 3% cents a bushel below yesterday's close to 1 1/2% above and then swung to a general level slightly higher than yesterday.

SWELTERING WEATHER HITS WAY DOWN SOUTH

New Orleans, Aug. 11.—(AP)—The deep south felt scant relief today from sweltering temperatures, blustery winds that caused property damage in scattered sections and thunderstorms.

Wind from the midwest brought an all-time high temperature of 117 to Texarkana, Ark., yesterday with almost as high readings in Mississippi, Louisiana and East Texas.

Plain Dealing, La., reported 115 degrees, Marshall Tex., 110, and Greenville, Miss., 106.

Citizens of Tupelo, Miss., where a tornado killed more than 200 persons earlier this year, were frightened by stiff winds which caused property damage of several thousand dollars.

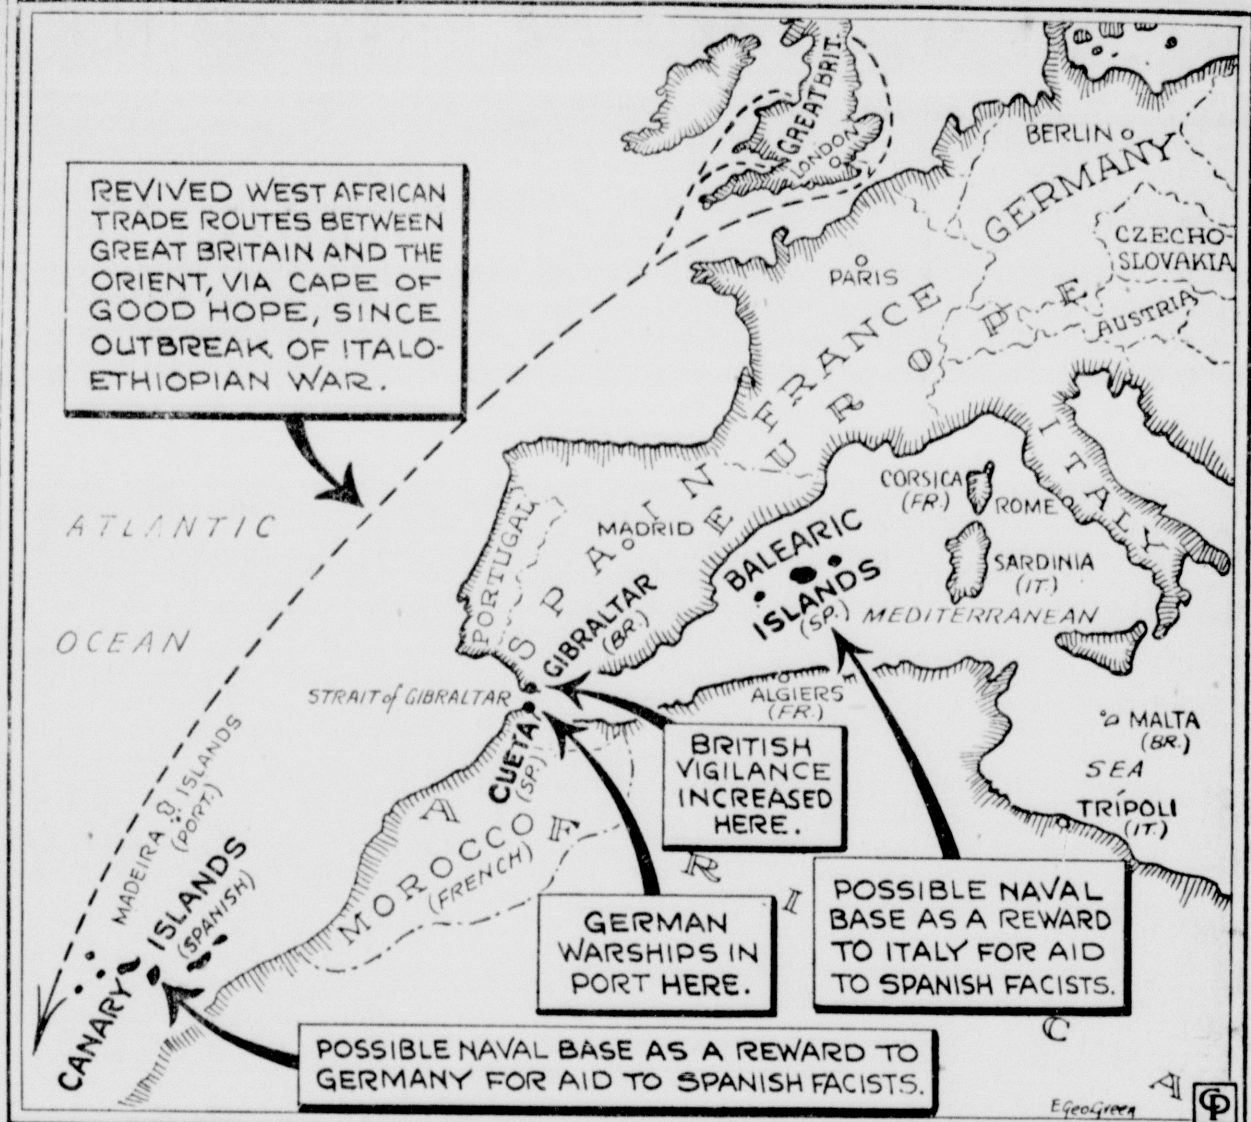

A tornado which struck Cass, Tex., injured two persons and caused property damage estimated at $5,000. Wind and electrical storms hit scattered portions of Georgia, doing minor damage.

Why British Are Becoming Alarmed

This map indicates why the British, together with the French, are becoming alarmed over possibilities of a Fascist victory in Spain. If Italy intervenes in behalf of the rebels, it is rumored that Premier Mussolini would be rewarded with a naval base in the Balearic Islands. It is believed also that the rebels have promised Hitler that Germany shall have a naval base in the Canary Islands should he give aid. That would be a menace to the British trade route down the west coast of Africa, which not only is a direct track to South Africa but also is considered as an alternate route to Australia and India in case of difficulties in the Mediterranean. German warships already have put in an appearance at the rebel-controlled port of Cuetra, across the Strait of Gibraltar. The incident of the German visit created tremendous international repercussions for the Nazi ships arrived just as loyal Spanish ships were preparing to shell the port in order to regain it. They could not do so, then, without hitting the German ships.

Astor-Thorpe Scandals May Be Soft Pedaled

Anderson earlier tried to introduce a portion of the actress' diary and Roland Rich Woolley, Miss Astor's attorney, protested vehemently.

The new move was disclosed by spirited denials from the dainty witness that she carried on bonfire affairs with a number of men.

Kaufman was sought today on a bench warrant issued after he did not appear in court in response to a subpoena.

The actress has testified that Dr. Thorpe knew of and condoned her relationship with Kaufman. Anderson cross-examined her at length about it, eliciting sharp denials she had told her husband she lived with the writer.

Hour after hour, Miss Astor sat through Anderson's extended cross-questioning. She spoke in a low, flat voice. Only occasionally did she flash any show of fire.

Questions about drinking were interspersed in the examination, Anderson once asking:

"Isn't it true that you have consumed one-fifth of a gallon of Scotch whisky a day since your divorce?"

A heated "no" was the quick reply.

Barrymore, who last year made a speedy dash from New York to Hollywood with his young protegee, Elaine Barrie, vainly attempting to catch up with him, poured out his "troubles" to Miss Astor after his "famous transcontinental trip," the witness said.

"Is that the time Barrymore fell over her (Marylyn)," Anderson asked.

Reich Finds New Weapon In Anti-Sterility Fight

Berlin (AP)—Sterility is a malady within the meaning of the social insurance acts, the reich insurance office recently decided.

This reverses a previous rule which did not admit treatment for sterility as chargeable to public funds.

The new judgment is based on the principle that the necessity for raising the birth rate is more urgent than personal considerations. It is now definitely laid down that even if a married woman is otherwise healthy she is entitled to claim sick benefit in order to have the causes of her inability to bear children treated.

Farmers Pledge Wheat To Help Church School

Newton, Ka. (AP)—"Wheat pledges" are helping Bethel college, denominational school, erase its deficit.

Mennonite farmer supporters, short of cash, responded to the college's drive for funds by promising to turn over the proceeds from a portion of their wheat crop at harvest time.

The first check to Professor J. F. Moyer, treasurer, amounted to $16 for 3 acres of wheat.

The French government decided to invite the United States to join European nations in the proposed neutrality accord respecting Spain's civil war. French diplomats were worried on two counts: The slowness of Berlin's specific reply approving the accord, and a possibility that Spanish Fascists had violated the neutrality of the internationalized zone in Morocco.

French officials ordered an inquiry into reports 21 Italian planes landed Sunday at Tetuan. Rebel leaders were quoted as saying the machines were Spanish, not Italian.

DISPUTES MAR CLASSIC AND LATIN AMERICANS THREATEN TO GO HOME

U. S. Divers Make Clean Sweep of Honors from Springboard but What Makes Little Japs Scoot Through the Water So Fast Has Everyone Guessing

BULLETIN—Berlin, Aug. 11.—(P)—The entire Peruvian delegation will be withdrawn from the Olympic games and will leave for Paris tomorrow as a result of the dispute centering around last Saturday's Olympic Soccer game between Peru and Austria, it was announced today.

This decision was reached after a wireless telephone conversation between Peruvian Olympic officials and Oscar Benavides, president of Peru.

Berlin, Aug. 11.—(P)—Overshadowed by the Japanese and the Dutch on the first three days of Olympic swimming competition, America's aquatic stars rallied briskly today as a new dispute struck the yachting camp and an old one, involving Peru's soccer team, continued to rage.

Sharing her first aquatic medals when Dick Degener, Marshall Wayne and Al Greene finished one-two-three in the springboard diving final, America likewise was further encouraged as Jack Medina and Ralph Flanagan qualified for the men's 400 meters free style final and Alice Bridges and Edith Morridge Segal won their initial heats in the women's 100 meter backstroke with the 1932 champion, Eleanor Holm Jarret, disbarred from the 1936 team, an interested spectator.

Japan won the 800 meter free style relay. Sail-offs for first places in the six-meter and eight-meter championships of the yachting competition were postponed and perhaps cancelled as a result of a series of protests lodged against unidentified contestants. The charges were said to involve professionalism.

Unofficial team point scores in Olympic swimming competition: (on 10-5-4-3-2-1 basis)

Men's swimming: Japan 25; United States 25; Hungary 14; Germany 7; France 3; Great Britain 1.

Women's swimming: Holland 17; Germany 11; Japan 10; Argentina 5; Denmark 4; United States 1; Great Britain 1.

Meanwhile several Latin-American countries, notably Uruguay and Chile, indicated strong support for Peru in its dispute with the international football federation. Peru withdrew from the soccer tournament and threatened to call off its entire Olympic delegation as a result of the federation's order that the South American's 4-2 victory over Austria last week would have to be delayed. Austria subsequently was declared winner of the game by forfeit.

The International Amateur Athletic Federation indicated an American move to legalize starting blocks might be approved at the next I. A. A. F. meeting in 1938.

The question of what makes Japan's swimmers scoot through the water so fast has the experts clustered around the Olympic pool tied in an even tighter knot than when the poker-faced little marvels first sprang their magic in the Los Angeles games four years ago.

After four years of study, the world's coaches are no nearer the solution. Someone suggested after the 1932 games that the Japanese were getting a "lift" from their oxygen tanks. But there is not a can of "lifting" gas anywhere in sight this time, and they are tearing through the water faster than ever.

This is an almost entirely new crop, most of whom are under 20. What makes them go so fast is a question even the spectators are fond of trying to solve. The Japanese say, "I think maybe we practice harder." But rival coaches declare that is impossible.

Some say it is because of their superb leg action. Their sprint swimmers can get seven leg-beats to each arm stroke.

Nevertheless, close observers insist that the Americans and others employ the same leg beat and the same powerful crawl stroke.

Whatever their secret, there is no doubt the Japanese cut a smoother, prettier picture than the others. Even some well-known swimmers look awkward by comparison.

The consensus around the pool is that Jack Medina of Seattle comes the closest to matching their graceful progress, but it was doubted that he would be able to keep it up as long or as fast as they in the final of the 400 meters tomorrow.

On the four basketball courts set outdoors on the Olympic tennis grounds the American team again drew a bye today, its second of the tournament, to move into the fourth round.

Disappointed in its failure to win the track and field title, Germany was ahead in the unofficial point total for all sports.

Hambletonian Trot Classic is Battle of Drivers

Rosalind... Ben White will drive

Ruth M. Mac... Tommy Berry pilots this one.

By BILL BRAUCHER

New York—Ten years of precedent may be knocked for a goal when the $10,000 Hambletonian stake is renewed Aug. 12 at Good Time track, in Goshen, N. Y.

In the 10 years the high trotting derby has been raced, no driver has been able to win twice. Nat Ray won it in 1926 when it was launched. The following reimsen won it in succeeding years: Marvin Childs, 1927; Billy Leese, 1928; Walter Cox, 1929; Tommy Berry, 1930; Dick McMahon, 1931; Will Caton, 1932; Ben White, 1933; Doc Parshall, 1934; and Sep. Palln, 1935.

ONE OF THE FOUR

Ray, Childs, Leese, Cox and McMahon, are out of active competition. But one of the other four—Berry, White, Parshall and Palln—is conceded a great chance to break the decade-old mark. In fact, the winner is almost certain to be one of the four veterans.

Another long-standing theory is that the driver of a Hambletonian victor always has had luck the next season. This idea may be blown sky-high, too, since Sep. Palln, who roared home in front with Greyhound last August, appears to have an excellent chance to win the 926 Goshen Derby and enjoy a great season to boot.

Palln, who hails from Indianapolis, will pilot Ed Lasater, owned by Will N. Reynolds, Winston-Salem, and with odds of 2 to 1 on this handsome brown son of Galworthy, there is every chance for Sep to win his laurels two years in a row.

Ben White, who drove Mary Reynolds to victory in 1933, will pilot Rosalind, owned by his 21-year-old son, Gibson, both of Lexington, Ky. Gibson had hoped all along that he could pilot his own filly in the great race, but he has finally sacrificed his life-time ambition to give the job to his father. Gibson feels that it will take more skill than he knows to bring Rosalind in first, and he doesn't want to jeopardize his entry's chances by his own comparative inexperience.

Tommy Berry, who piloted Hancock's Bertha to victory at Goshen in 1930, will drive Ruth M. Mac, owned by Coldstream Stud, of Lexington. This filly is rated at 4 to 1, while Rosalind is quoted at 3 to 1. If Ruth M. Mac wins, and many believe she will, it will prove one of the greatest comebacks in history. Ruth was hurt in an accident in the spring while being shipped by train from Florida to Kentucky. Nearly everyone thought Ruth's racing days were all over. But with Berry's patient treatment she has regained top form.

COMEBACK FOR CRAFTSMAN

Dr. Hugh M. Parshall, veterinarian of Urbana, O., universally known as "Doc," is the fourth of the victorious four. Doc will drive Craftsman, owned by John David, Toledo, O. This colt, in the first start of his career, won at Cleveland in July in 2:04 1/4, and went around the long way, at that. Since then he was hurt by a cut on one of his forelegs, but since it seems to be healing rapidly, Parshall believes he has a better than even chance to win.

BUCCANEERS WIN 20 TO 9

The battling Buccaneers, the Pirates, sank the Pickups of Wilson Field 20 to 9 in a lopsided encounter in the morning baseball league Monday.

The winners scored two runs in the first, four in the second, three in the third, two in the fourth, two in the fifth, four in the sixth, and three in the seventh.

The hapless Pickups tallied three in the first, three in the second, one in each of the fourth, fifth, and sixth.

The players: Pirates—A. Grimm, B. McKinney, Alkire, Penrod, W. McKinney, B. Grimm, Witherspoon.

Pickups—Rine, Snyder, Huff, Maddux, Alkire, Blake, Johns.

Mickey Goodwin, 127, Columbus, won a decision over Bobby Stewart, 128, Dayton, in eight rounds.

SAINTS MUFF BIG CHANCE

To Advance in Race by Dropping a Game, 6 to 4, to Columbus Red Birds

WHILE BREWERS LOSE

To the Indianapolis Team. Millers Easily Defeat Toledo Mudhens

Chicago, Aug. 11.—(P)—If Manager Gabby Street's St. Paul club can form the habit of winning a game or two when Milwaukee loses, the Saints once again may get a chance to worry the Brewers for the American Association leadership.

For several weeks the Saints and Brewers put on an exciting battle that saw the lead change clubs almost from day to day. Then the fast-traveling Brewers stepped out Sunday to win a double bill as the Apostles split, boosting the Milwaukee lead to three and one-half games over the Street crew.

Yesterday St. Paul lost another chance to gain ground, losing 6 to 4 to Columbus as Indianapolis stopped Milwaukee 6 to 1. The Red Birds scored two unearned runs in the sixth inning to whip the Apostles. Mike Ryba allowed ten hits to only nine his mates collected.

Jim Turner pitched effectively as Milwaukee bowed to Indianapolis. Catcher Detore's homer in the ninth deprived the Tribe hurler of a shutout. Luke Hahlin was pounded for seven hits and four runs in the first four frames. Fred Berger's home run with one man on in the second producing what proved to be the winning runs.

The Minneapolis Millers displayed good pitching and power at the plate as they whipped Toledo 9 to 4 in the series opener. Al Milnar allowed only five hits and for seven innings gave only one safety. Kansas City defeated Louisville 2 to 1 in a night game, Jim Peterson holding the Blues to five hits as the Colonels gained only two more off the delivery of Hal Smith.

IF CARDS SHOULD WIN FLAG

Grimm Would Go Down in History as "Good Time Charley" Who Gave Away the Pennant

Should the baseball fates give the St. Louis Cardinals the 1936 National League pennant by one game or less over Chicago's Cubs, Charles Grimm probably would go down in the frayed record books as the "Good Time Charley" who gave away the flag.

DEAN IN A FIGHT

Is Permitted to Continue in Game to Defeat Cubs. Nats Finally Beat Yankees, Giants Lose.

By PAUL MICKELSON

The Cub pilot made the sportsmanlike gesture yesterday of allowing Dizzy Dean to remain in the first game of the important National League series after the pitcher was about to be chased out by umpires for fighting Tex Carleton.

Grimm talked the ump into letting Dizzy stay, and the Red Bird star proved his gratitude by hand-cuffing the Cubs, 7 to 3, ropping them to second place.

The chances are that the Cards who drove Lonnie Warneke to cover with a four-run barrage in the fourth inning to break up a close game, would have won without the great Dizzy. If that game alone separates the two teams at the finish Grimm will be accused of being too tender hearted.

Stung by the quips flung at him by Carleton Dizzy suddenly left the pitching mound in the first inning and raced toward the Cub dugout.

The fiery Carleton leaped out, and they clinched and scuffled until players separated them. To the amazement of 30,000 fans, Dean resumed the mound, and it was explained that Grimm had pleaded successfully against his expulsion.

Brooklyn snapped the Giants' seven-game winning streak, 6 to 5. Three hits and an error turned the trick for the Stengel crowd.

New York's Yankees, riding along with a seemingly invincible margin in the American League race, absorbed one of their nearest likings of the year yesterday as Washington pounded three pitchers for 8 hits and a 13 to 4 victory.

It was the first Senator triumph of the season at Yankee Stadium, and Jimmy Deshong, ex-Yankee hurler, led the procession with eight hits. The defeat trimmed the Yankees lead over Cleveland's idle Indians to 11 1/2 games, with 48 to play.

The Boston Bees rallied sharply in the closing innings to hand the luckless, skidding Philadelphia Phillies their eighth straight setback, 9 to 7. Other teams were idle.

CHAPTER 36

JOAN DISMISSED Donald's suspicions of Sheila as utterly unfair and ungrounded even while the very unpleasant memory of Sheila's little act with the lost manuscript recurred in her memory. Joan was a great believer in good intentions and she was convinced that Sheila had been genuinely sorry. Surely Sheila's behavior these days was adequate proof that she was fond of Joan.

"I think your beau is terribly attractive," she told Joan after the party. "He's promised to show me some prints he bought in England. I'm thinking of buying an English cottage this summer and I want a hunt breakfast room."

"I'm sure he'll be glad to show them to you."

"Of course, he'll come over with you," Sheila added quickly.

"That really isn't necessary," Joan was intentionally cold. She hated having Donald thrown at her. She resented Sheila's constant you-two-darling-lovers attitude.

"Of course, it's necessary! Aren't you jealous?" "I might be if I had any reason or any right to be but I have neither. I assume that you are my friend and friends don't steal each other's men. Therefore I have no reason. And I have no right because Donald is still a married man in my eyes. And until he is free, he is not to be regarded seriously as a beau. When I called him that, I was simply employing the term casually."

Sheila threw up her hands. "Dear me, Joan! Please don't give me a moral lecture about it. Of course, I wouldn't steal your beau. I feel the same way you do about that sort of thing."

For one moment she took measure of unsuspecting Joan. "And I don't expect my friends to steal my men, as you say. However, I do think you are taking the wrong attitude about his divorce. You did admit to me that you might marry him, which means that he must have asked you and you must have considered it."

"That's all very different from being engaged to a man, Sheila. Joan ever, I am very fond of Donald and I'm glad you like him. Is that all right?"

"That's quite all right."

Then Sheila and Joan went shopping. Sheila bought herself one of those velvet tailored suits that spell sophistication, a hat to pull over her eyes and a sable scarf. In the costume she was the woman of the world at her best.

Joan had wanted to get a suit like that but she couldn't afford sables or $40 hats and she lost her taste for the suit when she saw Sheila in hers.

There wasn't much use in Joan's trying to achieve Sheila's perfection.

"Let me pick out something for you," Sheila insisted and in her imperious manner, had the salesgirls bringing out costume after costume.

At the last moment when Joan was experiencing all the impatience and weariness of the salesgirls herself, Sheila decided on a dark blue suit, box-jacketed and pleated skirt.

"That is really exactly your type. You must take it, Joan," Joan took it. She was too tired to care and she felt it was only courtesy to Sheila who enjoyed selecting it.

"I'm going to have Gardella"—Gardella was Sheila's expensive milliner—"make you just the kind of a hat that costume should have. It will be a Christmas present from me."

"Make it a birthday present and I'll take it. I'm having a birthday next week," Joan would be 24.

When the hat came, Joan could have cried if she hadn't laughed. In her smart suit with its girlish jacket and full skirt, with the dark blue bonnet on the back of her head, she looked like a Mary Pickford ingenue. She looked, in other words, like anything but Joan Spencer.

Joan permitted herself a small giggle.

Privately she thought that she would get a sailor hat and wear a tailored waistcoat with the suit and it might look less like What the Sub-deb Will Wear.

She did the best she could that day, pulling her hair tightly under the absurd bonnet, flapping the pleats of her skirt and putting on much too much lipstick. She had to do it because Sheila was calling for her and Julian in her car to take them to the theater and she was having the entire cast to her house for supper after rehearsal. The least Joan could do to thank Sheila was to wear the hat at least once.

"She came downstairs to find Sheila waiting for her in the hall."

"Darling, how sweet you look!"

Joan hoped that she didn't make the face she felt she was making.

"Thanks," she said, "I've got to get my note book. Have you seen Mr. Simon?"

"He's in the library, roaring his head off for you."

Joan slipped into the library quietly and announced herself.

"Where in tarnation is that Lackey book, Joan? I've looked all over the place for it. Simmons has got to see it today."

"All right, all right," she said soothingly. "Why don't you tell me what you want and save yourself all this excitement? A fine mess you've made of my desk."

Joan came within his range of vision. Julian blinked. Then he blinked again and a frown appeared on his brow. He put his glasses on.

"I'll be darned! Joan Spencer what have you done to yourself?"

"Done?" Joan opened her eyes as wide as she could and injected all the perplexity she could manage into her voice.

"Yes, done! Don't you know we're due at the theater in 20 minutes."

Run upstairs and get dressed. Quickly!"

Joan permitted herself a very small giggle quickly suppressed.

"But I am," she said, "I'm dressed in my very newest and best."

Julian put on the glasses he had taken off and looked at her again. Joan's face was completely serious and he didn't say what he might have said. Instead he said, "You've got too much lipstick on."

"I can't take it off now. I haven't got a handkerchief."

There was an imp in Joan who said that.

There was another imp who kept her mouth shut when she saw Julian take out his immaculate pocket handkerchief and give it to her.

"Is it better now?" she was saying at the exact moment when Sheila opened the library door and stopped just in time to see Joan give Julian the handkerchief with the tell tale lipstick plainly obvious on its snowy surface.

Joan might have explained but she didn't. Something in Sheila's smile stopped her. "Do come along, we're terribly late," Sheila said.

"We're all ready," Joan said, picking up her pencils.

"Did Julian tell you how pretty you look in your new costume? Doesn't she look darling, Julian?"

"Oh? Julian said or asked staring at both of them in turn."

"I said doesn't Joan look like a little girl? You look about 16, Joan. Doesn't she, Julian?"

Julian didn't say anything.

"Has Julian met Donald?" Sheila didn't wait for an answer. "They're simply lovebirds, Julian. It makes me wish that I were as young as they are again. It makes me realize that you and I are getting so old, darling." She took Julian's arm fondly.

Joan splashed ink from her fountain pen—deliberately. But not where she wanted to.

SOME FACTS ABOUT INSECTS

By J. J. DAVIS

(Written for The Associated Press)
(Purdue University Entomologist)

The honey bee is universally recognized as a useful insect because of its services as a pollinator of fruit and vegetable flowers and as a producer of that natural and unexcelled sweet, honey.

However, the honeybee performs another service not generally appreciated. It is the sole producer of beeswax. This product, which has never been chemically synthesized, is produced by young adult worker honey bees.

These young bees consume large quantities of honey and secrete the liquid beeswax through glands on the underside of the abdomen.

These secretions harden into thin plates of beeswax which are carried to the mouth and worked into mastic material for the construction of the comb cells in which honey is stored. From 12 to 20 pounds of honey are consumed by the young worker bees to produce one pound of beeswax.

Beeswax has innumerable uses in industry for which there is no satisfactory substitute. Approximately 15,000,000 pounds of beeswax, worth several million dollars, are used in the United States each year.

One of the important uses is in the manufacture of various cosmetic preparations, especially lipstick and cold creams.

The Arc de Triomphe in Paris is said to be the largest of its kind in the world.
